Green Flash Chromatography John Robert Bickler 2017 Flash chromatography, a staple component of medicinal chemistry workflow, consumes a lot of organic solvent (upwards of 100 million liters annually just in North America). Most, if not all, of this organic waste is incinerated off-site, liberating CO₂ into the atmosphere. Because of this environmental impact, many pharma companies are instituting requirements to reduce organic solvent waste but leaving the implementation up to their chemistry departments. In this poster, we describe several proven ways to reduce organic solvent use without sacrificing purification efficiency.

Applied Thin-Layer Chromatography Elke Hahn-Deinstrop 2007-02-27 Thin-layer chromatography (TLC) is a powerful, fast and inexpensive analytical method. It has proven its usefulness in pharmaceutical, food and environmental analysis. This new edition of the practical TLC guide features a completely revised chapter on documentation, now including the use of digital cameras. Selected new sorbents and instruments are also introduced. Why has the prior edition been successful? All steps of the analytical procedure are clearly explained, starting with the choice of a suitable TLC technique and ending with data evaluation and documentation. Special emphasis is put on the proper choice of materials for TLC. Properties and functions of various materials and the TLC equipment are described, covering e.g. precoated layers, solvents and developing chambers, including information on suppliers. Many practical hints for trouble shooting are given. All this is illustrated with numerous coloured figures. How to use TLC in compliance with GLP/GMP regulations is described in detail, including the required documentation. Therefore the reader can very easily compile his own standard operating procedures.

Adam Ashton Kinion M S 2019-11-07 The Biotage system and Millipore system are the de facto systems when performing Flash Chromatography. The old Varian company also sold one which was acquired by Agilent and the line dropped. It is more the cartridge than the unit. What I have experienced is the Biotage systems are easier to operate - simply set up for production situation better. I would say, that most true commercial operations are likely (note, these places tend to be a bit more than guarded on their operations.
