See examples of passive used in a sentence. Grammar (opposed to active) of, relating to, or being a voice, verb form, or construction that expresses an action that is done to rather than by the subject: In a passive sentence, the subject undergoes the ... 'Catrin told me' is an active sentence, and 'I was told by Catrin' is passive. In a passive sentence, the subject is the person or thing affected by the action of the verb. Used to describe a form of verb in which the grammatical subject is the object of the action, for example, the sentence "The government took steps." in the passive would be Steps were taken by the ... When you're passive, you don't participate much and you're not very emotional. In chemistry, passive means to be "unreactive except under special or extreme conditions; inert." We make the passive by putting the verb 'to be' into whatever tense we need and then adding the past participle. For regular verbs, we make the past participle by adding 'ed' to the infinitive. passive implies immobility or lack of normally expected response to an external force or influence and often suggests deliberate submissiveness or self-control.
