When you're passive, you don't participate much and you're not very emotional. In chemistry, passive means to be "unreactive except under special or extreme conditions; inert." passive implies immobility or lack of normally expected response to an external force or influence and often suggests deliberate submissiveness or self-control. We make the passive by putting the verb 'to be' into whatever tense we need and then adding the past participle. For regular verbs, we make the past participle by adding 'ed' to the infinitive. Used to describe a form of verb in which the grammatical subject is the object of the action, for example, the sentence "The government took steps." in the passive would be Steps were taken by the ...
