Homegrown Marijuana Joshua Sheets 2015-08-28 A gardener's guide to growing marijuana plants. If growing Cannabis is permitted where you live, a hydroponic system is your homegrown solution. With marijuana laws changing rapidly, millions of gardeners with an interest in growing Cannabis can finally step out of their curtained basements and raise this unique and ancient plant without worry and in plain view. As with any other plant we grow, you'll find a wide range of strategies for growing marijuana. The variables between approaches are many, including success rates, security, and cost. Indoor, water-based hydroponic systems are the best option for just about any homeowner: they are clean, reliable, highly productive, and can be built for minimal cost. In Homegrown Marijuana, you'll find all the information you need to create and operate a hydroponic growing system in your own home. This book is intended for people who live in areas that have legalized growing marijuana, for medical use or otherwise, and who wish to produce it for their own consumption. Using step-by-step instructions and photos, hydroponics and marijuana-growing expert Joshua Sheets explains how to create, build, maintain, and harvest a marijuana garden. He also includes plenty of background information you'll want to know on subjects such as nutrient solutions, propagating plants, selecting varieties, troubleshooting problems, and much more. You'll see that a hydroponic marijuana garden is not so different from other gardens you've grown—except, of course, that in this garden, the weed is encouraged.

In this beginner's guide we will teach you how to grow weed professionally. This is a practical introduction that will guide you through starting out with a commercial production in 2018. What this book will teach you include: How to set up an indoor grow room or grow facility How to give your plants everything they need in terms of light, water, airflow and nutrients How to grow, harvest and dry your marijuana This book will give you the Experience of the beautiful evolution from seeds to full blown yield. Grow your production from a few plants in the back of your closet to a medium or large commercial production in a professionally designed grow room If taking your growing to the next level excites you, read on now! We love working with new growers and are happy to help and offer advice based on our experience setting up some of the largest grow operations in the country, like this one with over $30 million in annual revenue, and this one which will do twice that much when finished. Growing outdoor will leave your plants at the mercy of environmental circumstances and mother nature - for the better or for the worse. With an indoor hydroponic production on the other hand, you are in charge. Creating a grow room will allow you to influence all factors that limit or accelerate the growth of our plants, and master the art of maximize yields and return on your investment. From choosing the best grow lights to deep water culture, from fans to wall paint - we've got you covered. You need to understand that setting up the infrastructure for hydroponics might take more time and investment at the start but can produce yield levels otherwise impossible to reach. As with any business, start by reflecting on why you want to do this. What's in it for you? What are your reasons for getting started (financially, professionally and emotionally)? Research the market circumstances and legal considerations in the area you plan to operate. Your business will be very different depending on your goals: Do you want to grow medical marijuana or recreational? At what scale? And in what state? What will your team and setup look like? How many people will be involved? How much is the investment for setting up the grow room? How much are the monthly costs for water, electricity and other supplies? Can you grow in your house or do you need a commercial area? How will you be distributing your weed buds? If you are considering growing marijuana as a business - treat it like a business. Do your research beforehand. Identify your target customer and how you're going to reach them. Research the balance of supply and demand in your market - your work will be much easier in a market that is supply constrained, so that may influence where you decide to set up your grow. What are the financial and legal risks and how can you manage these risks? Are you willing to take a legal risk or not? A business plan can help you structure your thoughts as well as forecast your cashflow. By the way: you do not have to have prior experience in growing weed to get started. What it will take is your genuine interest in taking good care of your plants and your ability to work hard, study hard and make changes on the way according to your learnings. It's not rocket science, but it needs dedication and passion. And you can do it, too. This book is a manual to growing marijuana hydroponically.

Growing Marijuana Indoors Jay Carter Brown 2013-06-13 With clear information and helpful tips presented in a straightforward format, this handbook teaches marijuana growers how to cultivate the best pot in the world. Whether it's medical (cannabis indica) or recreational marijuana (cannabis sativa), growing good, effective ganja can be a complicated task. This guide simplifies the steps and shows harvesters how to fully control the growing environment by carefully monitoring temperature and humidity levels; getting rid of any insects, moulds, or fungi; and using air filters and positive ventilation. By following the instructions included within, growers will learn to breed a variety of plants that can be easily ingested or smoked, keeping coughing to a minimum and yielding a soothing "body high."

Hydroponics Cannabis: A Guide to Hydroponics Method of Cultivating Marijuana Dr Karl Burmer 2019-03-24 Hydroponic farming is a method of growing plants using mineral nutrient solutions, in water, without soil. The hydroponic gardener regulates the composition of nutrients in the liquid solution used to water the plants. He/She also regulates the frequency of supplying the nutrients to the plants. Simply, the hydroponic gardener controls the growing environment of the plants. The system is highly automated of course but still requires to be well managed. As stated above, the process is managed, not simply controlled. Therefore, it is water efficient and nutrient efficient, both of which are delivered directly to the plant's root structure. Because the levels of water and nutrients are monitored, these elements are supplied as and when needed at the required levels. Together, water and nutrients contribute to the success of and rate of growth. The lighting factor is also critical in crop production. This is achieved by planting out in vertical structures where lighting is maximized while plant density, crowding and shading are minimized. Present day hydroponic farming embrace the 3-D approach and are grown vertically in multilevel growing beds. So now we have ideal growing conditions in terms of nutrients, water and light, plus the ability to grow in the vertical. This adds significantly to the yield per unit area as the growing area is no longer 2-dimensional (2-D) but has become a 3-D concept and design. This maximizes the actual growing area and uses what could have been unutilized areas in enclosed gardening environments. With a multi-level bedding structure that is movable, plants can now be exposed to ideal lighting at all times throughout the growing period. This controlled and managed growing environment also has significant advantages over traditional farming techniques.

This is the method where you grow marijuana in a flow or bath of water that's enriched with nutrients and highly oxygenated. Growing marijuana using this method means that there is no soil and plants grow in a sterile, inert growing medium. All of the nutrients necessary for the plant's growth are mixed into a solution with water. The hydroponic method provides the nutrients, water, and air to the plant through the mediums for growth and because there is no need for massive root webs or extra energy to absorb the nutrients, the plants grow much faster. To have the perfect crops, you need to control the entire atmosphere in your hydroponic system because the plants absorb the nutrients from both water and air. The hydroponic system is ideal for drought-stricken areas because almost no water gets lost to evaporation. As the name may suggest, hydroponics is a soilless method of growing cannabis using water as the primary medium. Within a hydroponic setup, cannabis plants are grown in buckets or baskets filled with an inert growing medium, and are suspended over a tank full of water. The water is filled with all of the nutrients plants need to survive and thrive, and air stones are used to aerate the tank. This basic model manifests in many different forms and systems, with different growers preferring different setups.
