This is not the grammatical like that means 'similar to', as in John's nose is like an eggplant, or even the like that means 'approximately', as in Greg is like seven or eight feet tall. English Grammar: Be like / Look like 1. "be like" - Personality of people & places and the weather
A: What is Mary like? A: What is John like? A: Who is John like? Like + ing Like + ing a 1. True or false? Read and circle true or false for these sentences. ngs to do. I like going to school and I love seeing y friends. I don't mind doing my homework but I hate practising ... So, that's like as a verb to talk about preference, and like as a preposition to ask for a description. Remember to use do or does for preference and to be for a description. I'm very like my mother. Julie loves mangoes as much as I do. He arrived as I was leaving. He works in a bank, like his father. I used a tea towel as an oven glove and I burned it! Your perfume smells like ... Traditionally, 'like' needed to be followed by a noun. However, in modern English, we often use 'like' as a conjunction and so it is followed by a subject and a verb. Description of like-kind property received: Date like-kind property given up was originally acquired (month, day, year)
3 Date you actually transferred your property to the other party (month, ...
