The Cambridge Companion to World Crime Fiction Jesper Gulddal 2022-04-21 Accessible yet comprehensive, this first systematic account of crime fiction across the globe offers a deep and thoroughly nuanced understanding of the genre's transnational history. Offering a lucid account of the major theoretical issues and comparative perspectives that constitute world crime fiction, this book introduces readers to the international crime fiction publishing industry, the translation and circulation of crime fiction, international crime fiction collections, the role of women in world crime fiction, and regional forms of crime fiction. It also illuminates the past and present of crime fiction in various supranational regions across the world, including East and South Asia, the Arab World, Sub-Saharan Africa, Europe and Scandinavia, as well as three spheres defined by a shared language, namely the Francophone, Lusophone, and Hispanic worlds. Thoroughly-researched and broad in scope, this book is as valuable for general readers as for undergraduate and postgraduate students of popular fiction and world literature.

Translation: A Guide to the Practice of Crafting Target Texts Stella Cragie 2019-11-18 This practical guide by two experienced translators and translation tutors explores aspects of time, context and culture in a range of translated literary texts, including novels, memoirs, poems and plays. Reflective analytical sections are complemented by a variety of practical tasks that reflect the book's craft-based approach. Providing a dual focus on both analysis and creativity, this volume helps readers to develop two different skill sets required for translation: deconstruction and reconstruction. To learn how to analyse or deconstruct a source text (ST), the tasks include translating and editing, comparison and analysis of source language (SL) texts and translations, and critiquing or improving target language (TL) texts produced by translators from different times. A range of creative writing challenges reveal the secrets writers use to hook their readers. Whatever language readers translate into, these insights will help them to find their own writer's voice, making them better equipped to recreate another author's voice, whatever the time or cultural context. This is the essential guide to improving target texts for all translators and students of translation.

The Cottage by the Highway and Other Essays on Publishing: 25 Years of Logos Angus Phillips 2015-03-20 Logos - the international journal of the publishing community - celebrates its 25th anniversary in 2015. Since its first publication it has gained a reputation for publishing insightful and clear-headed articles about publishing, and this tradition continues to the present day, with the addition in recent years of academic articles reflecting the growth in the discipline of publishing studies. The present collection provides the opportunity to mark this milestone in the journal's history by reprinting over thirty articles in book form. The selection has been made with a view to representing the full span of the life of the journal, with a good spread across the years of publication from 1990 onwards. The articles selected are ones that have stood the test of time and have something interesting to say. There is broad international coverage, from Argentina to China, from Iran to Kenya, and a wide selection of topics including publishing, bookselling, libraries, censorship, and book history. The new introduction, written by the journal's editor-in-chief, Angus Phillips, places the articles in perspective, highlighting their currency and foresight. The volume will be essential reading for both industry professionals and students of book history and publishing studies. Featured articles are by Maarten Aascher, Marc Aronson, Diana Athill, Betty Ballantine, Michael Bhaskar, Marie-Françoise Cachin and Sylvie Ducas-Spaes, Henry Chakava,

Traduire la littérature et les sciences

humaines Gisèle Sapiro 2012 Quelles sont les raisons de traduire ou de ne pas traduire une œuvre ? Alors que les ouvrages du philosophe américain John DEWEY publiés dans les années 1920 n'ont été traduits en français qu'en 2003, quatre ans seulement séparent la parution de la Sociologie de l'Algérie de Pierre BOURDIEU en 1958 et sa traduction en anglais, mais près de vingt-cinq ans passent entre la parution de l'Amour de l'art en 1966 et sa publication aux États-Unis en 1990. L'Élégance du hérisson, un roman tout d'abord refusé par de multiples éditeurs étrangers car jugé trop « franco-français » a pourtant connu très vite un succès de librairie mondial. Comment expliquer de tels phénomènes ? De nombreux obstacles d'ordre économique mais aussi symbolique empêchent les œuvres de circuler entre les cultures : la très inégale position des langues sur le marché mondial de la traduction et, pour chaque pays, les héritages culturels différents et leurs représentations réciproques, les traditions philosophiques et universitaires, la structuration et le développement des économies nationales du livre, mais aussi la rareté des traducteurs pour certaines langues, la difficulté de traduction, son coût, etc. À partir d'études de cas conduites en France, aux États-Unis, au Brésil, au Royaume Uni et aux Pays-Bas et consacrées à la traduction en français ou vers une autre langue, l'ouvrage identifie les conditions économiques et culturelles de la traduction en littérature et en sciences humaines et sociales. À travers un grand nombre d'exemples singuliers, il dégage les logiques générales qui freinent ou favorisent la traduction : le rôle crucial d'éditeurs volontaristes, l'importance des dispositifs de soutien public et les logiques culturelles qui gouvernent la réception des œuvres, leur commercialisation et leur médiation dans chaque pays. Gisèle SAPIRO a dirigé les recherches qui ont permis l'édition de cet ouvrage. Elle est directrice de recherche au CNRS et directrice d'études à l'EHESS. Elle dirige le Centre européen de sociologie et de science politique. Spécialiste de sociologie des intellectuels, de la littérature, de la traduction et des échanges culturels internationaux, elle est notamment l'auteure de La Guerre des écrivains, 1940-1953 (Fayard, 1999) et de La Responsabilité de l'écrivain.
