Yet these are skills that students must develop to continue to learn beyond the classroom environment. POGIL is designed to have students learn terms and develop concepts through guided inquiry ... POGIL's structured yet flexible approach ensures that students not only grasp the content but also develop the process skills necessary for success in academic, professional, and personal contexts. POGIL® (Process Oriented Guided Inquiry Learning) is a student-centered instructional approach in which students work in small teams with the instructor acting only as a facilitator. POGIL differs from other approaches in two particular ways. The first is the explicit and conscious emphasis on developing essential and purposeful process skills. Process Oriented Guided Inquiry Learning (POGIL) is an activity-based, group-learning instructional strategy. POGIL was created in 1994 to improve teaching of general chemistry. This site contains classroom activities and other resources to support using Process Oriented Guided Inquiry Learning (POGIL) in Computer Science (CS) and related disciplines like Software ... Process-Oriented Guided-Inquiry Learning (POGIL) is a teaching approach which integrates discovery activities into the lecture with collaborative learning. Single activities that meet the highest POGIL standards are designated as "POGIL Approved" by the PAC. Visit this link to view our growing collection of these activities.
