Designing, Deploying, and Evaluating Virtual and Augmented Reality in Education

Akcayir, Gokce 2020-10-23 Augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR) provide flexibility in education and have become widely used for the promotion of multimedia learning. This use coincides with mobile devices becoming prevalent, VR devices becoming more affordable, and the creation of user-friendly software that allows the development of AR/VR applications by non-experts. However, because the integration of AR and VR into education is a fairly new practice that is only in its initial stage, these processes and outcomes need to be improved. Designing, Deploying, and Evaluating Virtual and Augmented Reality in Education is an essential research book that presents current practices and procedures from different technology-implementation stages (design, deployment, and evaluation) to help educators use AR/VR applications in their own teaching practices. The book provides comprehensive information on AR and VR applications in different educational settings from various perspectives including but not limited to mobile learning, formal/informal learning, and integration strategies with practical and/or theoretical implications. Barriers and challenges to their implementation that are currently faced by educators are also addressed. This book is ideal for academicians, instructors, curriculum designers, policymakers, instructional designers, researchers, education professionals, practitioners, and students.

Proceedings of the 5th International Conference on Humanities and Social Science (ICHSS 2024)

Evania Yafie 2025-01-20 This is an open access book. This conference endeavours to engage with the dynamics of marginalisation processes and their implications for diverse marginalized groups within the complex socio-cultural, historical, and political landscape of Southeast Asia. Utilizing a multidisciplinary approach, this research encompasses insights from sociology, anthropology, political science, and economics to unravel the layered dynamics of exclusion and the myriad factors contributing to the marginalization of specific communities in the region. A critical aspect of this meeting is the exploration of historical legacies, examining how the colonial past has influenced contemporary patterns of marginalization. The research delves into the socio-economic disparities, cultural diversity, and political structures that underpin the marginalization of certain groups. By adopting an intersectional lens, the study scrutinizes the interplay of factors such as ethnicity, gender, religion, and socio-economic status, recognizing the interconnectedness of these dimensions in shaping the experiences of marginalization. Furthermore, it also examines the repercussions of marginalization on affected communities, analyzing the barriers they encounter in accessing fundamental rights such as education, healthcare, employment, and political participation. Special attention is given to the resilience and resistance strategies employed by marginalized groups, illustrating their agency in navigating and challenging systemic exclusion. The conference, hopefully, incorporates in-depth case studies from various countries within Southeast Asia to capture the regional nuances of marginalization processes. By adopting a comparative approach, the research identifies both commonalities and unique challenges faced by marginalized groups across national borders, contributing to a nuanced understanding of regional dynamics. This conference not only documents and analyzes the complexities of marginalization within Southeast Asia but also strives to provide actionable insights. By shedding light on the challenges faced by marginalized groups, the research aims to inform policy interventions and social initiatives that can address and mitigate the adverse effects of systemic exclusion. Through this lens, the study contributes to ongoing discussions on social justice, equity, and inclusive development in the Southeast Asian context, fostering a deeper understanding of these issues for the benefit of both academic discourse and practical implementation.

Mechatronics and Machine Vision in Practice

Practice 3 John Billingsley 2018-04-04 In contrast with previous books on mechatronics and machine vision in practice, a significant number of chapters focus on systems designed for human interaction and deciphering human motion. Examples illustrate assistive actuation of hip joints, the augmentation of touch sense in artificial hand prostheses and helping stroke survivors in repetitive motion therapy. Interactive mechatronics and the experience of developing machine interfaces has enabled an examination of how we use mechatronics in the service of training, and even to consider why computer games perhaps appear to capture attention so much more readily than a human instructor! Mechatronics continues to be an exciting and developing field. It is now an essential part of our world and living experience. This and the previous books in this series illustrate the journey in developing the use of mechatronics so far. We anticipate that you will find the chapters here an equal source of inspiration for new devices to solve the challenges of new applications, and of course as a resource for teaching and inspiring the new generation of mechatronics engineers.
