Your First Year as an Elementary School

Teacher Lynne Rominger 2001 With the help of this handbook, first-year elementary school teachers learn how to determine classroom rules, create daily lesson plans, communicate with faculty and parents, and evaluate students fairly. "In the trenches" advice provides help and support from veteran teachers who have "survived".

A Resource Guide for Elementary School

Teaching Richard Dean Kellough 1994 A Resource Guide for Elementary School Teaching is a practical, comprehensive, and concise methods book designed to engage readers in "hands-on" and "minds-on" learning about effective teaching. A four-part organization covers an orientation to elementary school teaching and learning; planning for instruction; strategies, aids, media, and resources for effective instruction; assessment and professional development. A new chapter on elementary school children discusses their development and their diversity -- and specific strategies for working with them.

The Quest for Meaning 2009-01-01 The Quest for Meaning: Teaching, Learning and the Arts presents a narrative, arts-based approach to pedagogy and research in higher education. Through narratives of experience, the book offers revealing, poignant examples of the transformative power of the arts and of narrative inquiry in learners' lives, and of the centrality of story in their ongoing quest for meaning. The Quest for Meaning will be valuable in a wide range of graduate and undergraduate settings. It provides a framework for the development of new pedagogies which integrate the theory and practice of narrative, arts-based approaches to education. The work makes a contribution to the fields of narrative and arts-based inquiry and pedagogy, qualitative research methods, holistic and integrated studies, and self-directed inquiry. It will appeal to a range of audiences who are interested in this creative, integrative approach to education, and who want to gain insights into how students learn, from their own unique perspectives. Grounded in Dr. Beattie's interconnected approach to research and pedagogy, the book begins with her own story of teaching, learning, research and the arts. This provides the backdrop to an account of a collaborative pedagogy designed to enable students to conduct in-depth narrative inquiries into their lives, and to learn how to do narrative, arts-based research with others. The author provides insights into the practices and processes of solitary and collaborative inquiry, and the interaction and integration that take place within the three kinds of dialogue she proposes; the dialogue with the self, the dialogue with others, and the dialogue between the dialogues. The book's other twelve narratives show from learners' unique perspectives, how the creation and re-creation of their ways of ways of knowing and being is a distinctively individual process involving all aspects of their humanity. Individually, these narratives provide valuable glimpses into the challenges, the joys, the frustrations and emotionality, and the important personal satisfactions involved in the processes of learning, unlearning and re-learning. In their own voices, these learners tell of the diverse ways in which they became more responsive to their own inner lives, to the perspectives and understandings of others, and to the creation of more meaningful narratives for their current and future lives. Collectively, the narratives highlight the importance of recognizing personal experience in settings of higher education. They also present compelling evidence for acknowledging the significance of inquiry, creativity, imagination, dialogue, interaction, and integration in enabling learners to bring the whole of their being to the learning process, to the exploration of the stories by which they live, and to the creation of new narratives for their future lives.

In the Midst of C. M. Barons 2008-04 Written with great energy and wonderful, fanatic precision and brimming with rapid-fire, often gritty dialog, Barons evokes the spirit of the 1970s. Conjuring up an ensemble of extraordinary, true-to-the-age characters, he invites all who lived through that decade of love and language to rekindle the dreams of that generation. In The Midst Of summons the generation that defined the '70s. Brian, a college sophomore, connects with an offbeat mentor cum older brother named Hollis in a lopsided relationship. When Hollis at last moves on, Brian wanders through jungles of myth, love and rich language in search of his lost friend. Like zapping digitized aliens in a '70s video arcade, reconstructing the past relies on virtual images. Brian meets Angie, Cindy, David and Nancy and Nadine, but the question remains, does one ever meet Hollis, the elusive harlequin and hero from Brian's past? Hollis is the quest, as distinctive as the bull's eye embossed on any Zen-archer's target. To find him is to find rationality at the center of a koan and truth in the abode of memory.

In a Class of Your Own Rhoda M. Samkoff 2010-08-16 Rhoda Samkoff simplifies the process of becoming acclimated to the teaching profession by addressing concerns that new teachers often have and offering strategies for dealing with the most challenging--and most common--new teacher situations. This handbook is like having a mentor in the classroom next door. Using a blend of examples from real classrooms and advice from experienced teachers, this easy-to-read book provides information on a wide range of topics, such as strategies for planning effective lessons, communicating with parents, and dealing with specific student behaviours. Each chapter includes: - TIPS, or Theory-Into-Practice Strategies that provide workable strategies for teachers - Anecdotes from actual classroom situations - Time-saving reproducible "start-up" materials such as forms, rubrics, and checklists - Frequently asked questions that address the concerns of new teachers.

Drawn to Love Nicole Ciacchella 2020-12-15 Book 2 in the sexy GLAM rom-com series about a group of gloriously geeky ladies. Chantal Koffi is sure she isn't good enough. After taking the dive years ago and publishing her webcomic online, she's watched, disheartened, as the meager fruits of her labor trickle in. She knew making a living from her work was a pipe dream, but she pinned her hopes and dreams on it coming true. Since the art that holds true meaning for her isn't paying her bills, she's settled for channeling her abilities into an uninspiring graphic artist career. While she's not above doing what's necessary to make ends meet, the everyday proof that her art is only good at suckering hapless consumers into buying products they don't need is soul-crushing. However, a chance meeting with a friend's coworker reminds her that her art isn't the only thing that matters to her. Marcus Tang is everything she's ever wanted in a guy: sexy, sensitive, funny, intelligent, and an artist like her. Her attraction to him can't be denied, and it isn't long before she finds herself falling for him. But when a literary agent expresses interest in Marcus's novel, Chantal is forced to contend with a stark reality. As thrilled for him as she is, she can't ignore how painful it is to watch him find the success that continues to elude her. Then an unexpected disaster upends her delicate balancing act, and she must face the possibility that, while her love for Marcus is strong, she may not be strong enough to fight for it.

Decolonizing Literacies Towani Duchscher 2023-09-27 This volume examines the ways in which literacy has been used as a weapon and a means for settler colonialism, challenging colonized definitions of literacy and centring relationships as key to broadening understandings. It begins by confronting the multiple ways that settler colonialism has used literacy and definitions of literacy as a gatekeeper to participation in society. In response to settler colonialism's violent acts of extraction, displacement, and replacement enacted upon the land, the resources, the people, and understandings of literacy, the editors propose a unique approach to decolonizing understandings of literacy through a triangulation of disruption, reclamation, and remembering relationships. This is enacted and explored through a range of diverse chapter contributions, written in the form of stories, poems, artworks, theatres, and essays, allowing the authentic voices of the authors to shine through, and opening up the English Language Arts as a space for engagement and interpretation with diverse, racialized understandings of literacy. Disrupting Eurocentric, colonized understandings that narrowly define literacy as reading and writing the colonial word, and advancing the movement to decolonize education, it will be of key interest to scholars, researchers, and educators with interest in literacy education, decolonizing education, anti-racist education, inclusive education, land-based literacy, and arts-based literacy.

Report Card on Report Cards Tara S. Azwell 1995 The contributors tell their own stories, presenting and describing some of the authentic assessment and reporting strategies they have devised and are using in their classrooms. Narratives, developmental continuums, and indicators of progress are all explored. Strategies focus on home and school collaboration, student self-assessment, the technology for developing report forms, and more. Throughout the book, abundant examples and samples of student work show ways to bring curriculum, outcomes, and progress reports together.
