New methods based on open approaches are available such as crowdsourcing, data visualisation, or network analysis. There may be different ways to approach the problem than the traditional ones. "The key to a successful Methods section is to include the right amount of detail--too much, and it begins to sound like a laboratory manual; too little, and no one can repeat what was done." Function of the Materials & Methods section: It answers the question: "What did you do?" As such, it should describe the techniques and reagents you used or developed for your paper in enough detail ... The Method section (also sometimes called Methods, Materials and Methods, or Research Design and Methods) describes the data collection and analysis procedures for a research project. What is the difference between Methods and Methodology? Methods are the specific approach to collecting your data. This could include: Every method varies in style, so it is important that you ... Four subsamples for each species and treatment were collected from the bulk litter during litterbag construction and analyzed for total C, N, and fiber using methods described by Madritch and Hunter ...
