Best of ISA Science Cornelia Szabó-Knotik 2017-08-14 ISA Science, the research format of University for Music and Performing Art Vienna's summer school has turned out successfully both in terms of its international resonance and its effects on the institution's academic community. Therefore the event's program chairs have decided to publish a selection of what has been discussed and presented so far, demonstrating the considerable diversity of disciplines, approaches and topics.

Europe Faces Europe Johan Fornäs 2017 Europe Faces Europe examines Eastern European perspectives on European identity. The contributors to this volume map narratives of Europe rooted in Eastern Europe, examining their relationship to philosophy, journalism, social movements, literary texts, visual art, and popular music. Moving the debate and research on European identity beyond the geographical power center, the essays explore how Europeanness is conceived of in the dynamic region of Eastern Europe. Offering a fresh take on European identity, Europe Faces Europe comes at an important time, when Eastern Europe and European identity are in an important and vibrant phase of transition.

Handbook of Qualitative Research Methods in Marketing Russell W. Belk 2006 This work offers both basic and advanced treatments intended to serve academics, students, and marketing research professionals. It begins with a history of qualitative methods in marketing by Sidney Levy and continues with discussions of current thought and practice.

Othering and Internalisation of Stereotypes in Toni Morrison's "The Bluest Eye" Mohamed Sghir Syad 2016-05-13 Essay from the year 2013 in the subject American Studies - Literature, University of Nottingham (School of Canadian and American Studies), course: American studies, language: English, abstract: Racism and sexism are endemic to the stereotypical "othering" enterprise that brackets black female subjectivity in a forced homogeneity. Doubly stereotyped as the racial and sexual "other", black women risk being forced to signify the negative counterpart in a binary system of cultural and political representation. Usually white and male, the defining subject associates negatively inflected traits with the defined "other" — in this context a black female — while reserving positive attributes for its own definition and identification. In recasting black women's subjectivity in fiction, Morrison admits the existence of racial and sexual stereotypes. From her first published novel, "The Bluest Eye", Morrison challenges and deconstructs the double plight of black women in the U.S. by exposing, first, the processes involved in racial and gendered "othering" and, second, the consequent internalised effects that transmute into "self-othering."

American Indian Quarterly 2008

Migration and Fiction Maria Löschnigg 2009
Representation Stuart Hall 2013-05-29 Since 1997 Representation has been the key go-to textbook for students learning the tools to question and critically analyze institutional and media texts and images. This long-awaited Second Edition: • update and refreshes the approach to theories of representation by signalling key developments in the field • addresses the emergence of new technologies and formats of representation, from the internet and the digital revolution to reality TV • includes an entirely new chapter on celebrity culture and personalisation, to debates about representation and democracy, and involve illustrations of an intertextual nature, cutting across various technologies and formats in which 'the real' or the authentic makes an appearance • offers new exercises, new readings, new images and examples for a new generation of students This book will once again prove an indispensable resource for students and teachers in cultural and media studies.

Marxism And Media Studies Mike Wayne 2003-07-20 This is an accessible guide to key Marxist concepts and how to apply them to contemporary cultural analysis. Drawing on Marx, Lukacs, Gramsci, Habermas, Jameson and others, the book retools and redeems key concepts such as class, the mode of production, culture industries, the state, base-superstructure, ideology, hegemony, knowledge and social interests, and commodity fetishism. It also includes analysis of film, television, the internet and print media. Using case studies including Disney, Big Brother to the spirits and spectres in such films as The Others, The Devil's Backbone and Dark City, it illuminates the fetishisms of culture and society under capital. Exploring the relevance of each concept to understanding the media, Wayne explains why Marxism is an important critical methodology for the media student to engage with. He foregrounds the theoretical and political shifts that have led to its marginalisation in recent years, and highlights how and why these trends are changing as once more, people return to Marx and Marxism to understand the world around them.

Design Issues 2014

Central American Migrations in the Twenty-First Century Mauricio Espinoza 2023-11-21

"Central American Migrations in the Twenty-First Century is an interdisciplinary approach to human mobility in Central America and beyond"

Sport and the Emancipation of European Women Gigliola Gori 2016-03-23

Sport and the Emancipation of European Women: the Struggle for Self-fulfilment explores the contributions of European women to the emancipation of women worldwide. It expands understanding of the need for their attitudes and actions and celebrates their achievements in freeing the female body from unwarranted political, cultural and social restraint in the courageous pursuit of the Enlightenment's secular value system: 'the unity of mankind and basic personal freedoms and {a} world of tolerance, knowledge, education and opportunity' (from Roy Porter, Enlightenment: Britain and the Creation of the Modern World, 2004). The Collection records the pulling down of European barriers via sport to women's realisation of ability and release of talent and their conquest of crushing inhibitions, inexcusable irrationality, intolerable prejudice and denial of opportunity : no barriers came down without confrontation. The struggle to overthrow prejudice set for the first time in the context of recent European history and the recent evolution of European sport, is described in this pioneering Collection. It is the first publication to focus specifically on European women and their struggle for emancipation via sport. This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport.

Representation Jessica Evans 2024-11-26

Culture, Power & Representation Sanjay Asthana 2003

Explorations in Communication and History

Barbie Zelizer 2008-10-27 Explorations in Communication and History addresses the link between what we know and how we know it by tracking the intersection of communication and history. Asking how each discipline has enhanced and hindered our understanding of the other, the book considers what happens to what we know when disciplines engage.

Key Sociological Thinkers Rob Stones

2017-09-16 The third edition of this popular and established core textbook provides an invaluable guide to 24 of the most influential thinkers in Sociology. Written by leading academics in the field, Key Sociological Thinkers provides a clear and contextualised introduction to classical and contemporary theory. Each chapter offers an insightful assessment of a different theorist, exploring their lives, works and legacies, and in a much-valued 'Seeing Things Differently' section authors demonstrate how each thinker's ideas can be used to illuminate aspects of social life in new ways. With frameworks for deep learning around group discussion, this continues to be an essential text for undergraduate and postgraduate modules on sociological and social theory. New to this Edition: - Four new chapters, on Mead, Du Bois, Latour and Alexander - Five chapters by new authors on existing key thinkers: Durkheim, Merton, Goffman, Bourdieu, and Giddens - A major new introduction - An updated, structured and annotated 'Further Reading' section for each thinker - Extended accounts of 13 additional thinkers who have influenced, or been influenced by, the key thinkers

The Mind, the Body and the World Brendan

Wallace 2007 Concerning the cognitive, or information processing approach to psychology, this book asks what it is, how it originated, and whether and how desirable it is to look for ways that go beyond it.

Key Concepts in Cultural Studies Maja Mikula 2008-03-04 This is a student friendly resource for the rapidly developing field of cultural studies. Organized alphabetically, it provides a comprehensive selection of accessible definitions of key cultural studies terms, guides readers to critical reference for further reading and places cultural studies in disciplinary and interdisciplinary contexts.

Representation Stuart Hall 2024-11-01 Since 1997 Representation has been the go-to textbook for students learning the tools to question and critically analyze media texts and images. This long-awaited third edition has been updated throughout to engage with the impact of digital technology and culture, and the changes in political culture, social movements and the cultural industries. The new edition includes: A new preface by Sean Nixon, focusing on digital media, and theories of representation. A new Afterword by Kobena Mercer to Stuart Hall's classic chapter on 'The Spectacle of the Other' Revised chapters with additional content on digital media, de-westernising culture, imperialism and BLM, and new readings tying contemporary issues of race, gender and power A new chapter by Nancy Thumim exploring digital forms of self-representation and representation in/of Politics, looking at media spectacle, political imagery, the Me Too movement and Black Lives Matter. The Third Edition provides an indispensable resource for students and teachers in cultural and media studies.

Off the Beaten Track? Divergent Discourses in Victorian Women's Travelogues Antje Peukert 2010-09-28 Thesis (M.A.) from the year 2005 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Literature, grade: 1,1, University of Potsdam (Anglistik/Amerikanistik), language: English, abstract: Diese Studie untersucht das Zusammenspiel zwischen imperialen und Weiblichkeitsdiskursen in den Reiseberichten britischer Frauen des neunzehnten Jahrhunderts. Im Besonderen werden die Reiseberichte von Lucie Duff Gordon und Amelia Edwards beleuchtet und hinsichtlich ihrer Einordnung in kulturelle, politische und soziale Zusammenhänge analysiert. Das Augenmerk liegt dabei hauptsächlich auf Konstruktionen von Geschlecht und Identität, um aufzuzeigen, dass britischen Mittelstandsfrauen, trotz der strengen patriarchalen Eingrenzung, die Kolonialherrschaft Englands emanzipatorische Auswege aufzeigte. Aufgrund des widersprüchlichen Verhältnisses von imperialen und als maskulin konnotierten Diskursen und Weiblichkeitsdiskursen des neunzehnten Jahrhunderts in den Reisetexten von Frauen, lassen sich Konstruiertheit und Instabilität beider Diskurse darstellen. Das erste Kapitel dieser Arbeit gibt einen Überblick über postkoloniale und feministische Ansätze bezüglich der Reiseliteratur von britischen Autorinnen. Es wird vor allem ein theoretischer Rahmen und eine Methode zur Analyse von imperialen Reisetexten herausgearbeitet. Darüberhinaus wird die Position des Kritikers/der Kritikerin dekonstruiert, um die diskursive Einbettung repräsentativer Praktiken zu beleuchten und einen selbst-kritischen Zusammenhang zwischen imperialer Vergangenheit und gegenwärtigen Diskursen zu knüpfen. Im zweiten Kapitel wird auf die konkrete historische und kulturelle Situation von viktorianischen Frauen eingegangen. Der zweite Teil des Kapitels befasst sich dann näher mit der historischen Entwicklung des Reisens und der Tradition von reisenden Frauen im neunzehnten Jahrhundert. Zwei konkrete Texte von zwei viktorianischen Autorinnen werden ausführlich im dritten und vierten Kapitel besprochen. Sowohl Amelia Edwards als auch Lucie Duff Gordon reisten in der zweiten Hälfte des neunzehnten Jahrhunderts nach Ägypten und verfassten Berichte, die die Bandbreite orientalistischer Diskurse und Diskurse über Weiblichkeit andeuten. Die vorliegende Arbeit will beweisen, dass die Reiseberichte von britischen Frauen der viktorianischen Epoche aktiv in koloniale und patriarchale Diskurse eingriffen und sie modifizierten.
