Now he hates me, but I've also accidentally attracted the wrong kind of attention from my intimidating new stepbrothers. Suddenly, I'm surrounded by bad boys and trouble, and I'm not sure who I can trust. Malice: Being the number one suspect in my best friend's murder sucks. Why can't the police catch the real killer? I'm no teen sleuth, but I guess I'm going to have to compile a list of suspects myself. Too bad I keep getting distracted by the most likely one. Everyone tells me to stay away from him, but I don't believe that he's dangerous. He can't really be the killer. Can he?

Alpha's Rescue Renee Rose 2022-06-07 The curvy human saw me shift-now she can never leave. I took the lovely female with bright pink braids as my prisoner. She trespassed on our mountain. Saw my bear. With our land already under threat, I must keep her until I find out what she remembers.

And she's in danger. Her brother wants her dead, and she needs my protection. I shouldn't keep her. I swore I'd never take a mate, but I can't stop myself from wanting Lana. I can't resist tying her to my bed. Claiming her. Then destroying anyone who dares threaten my mate. The Celluloid Couch Leslie Y.

Rabkin 1998-10 In this unique filmography, Leslie Rabkin delves deeply into film's "unconscious," producing a valuable reference text concerned with the history of film and its representation of therapy and mental illness. The Celluloid Couch is arranged by decade, with the exception of the earliest period, The Silent Era (from the very beginnings of film to 1920). Each period contains a thoughtful introduction that highlights important films and discusses the intersection of film with history and psychology. Rabkin's overview lays bare patterns in film's representation of mental illness and therapy, and inquires how contemporary stereotypes of psychiatric patients and institutions have been formed from film. Textual examples in the introduction are drawn from magazines and newspapers, as well as numerous readings of particularly important films refracted through the lens of a psychologist. The alphabetical entries are compact and inclusive, containing main titles as well as foreign listings, and detailed information such as cast, length, director, producer, and a brief synopsis of the film's plot and discussion of the forms of therapy depicted and utilized in the film. An efficient resource for the student of film, psychology, or mass culture, The Celluloid Couch makes the huge number of popular films that portray mental illness and therapy accessible.

Psycho Stepbrother Arabella Abbing 2015-08-07 "The boy she grew up with has turned into a man she can hardly recognize. Cold, ruthless, and completely insane." Growing up, Rose always followed the rules and chose to concentrate on her grades instead of boys.
Primarily because the only boy she wanted was her stepbrother, David. The one boy she could never have. It's been three years since she's seen him and a lot has changed since their last meeting. Rose has moved to New York City for college and attracted a boyfriend she can't seem to escape from. While she misses David far more than she's willing to admit, she has ultimately let him go. Then Rose is kidnapped and brought face-to-face with the man she thought she'd never see again.
She quickly finds out that she isn't the only one who's changed as she gets sucked into David's world of criminal activities, not to mention his less-than-stable mental state.

As Rose tries to get used the new David, the reality of what kind of man he's become finally starts to sink in. It's up to Rose to figure out how to get herself out of this mess... But does she really want to?
