Training and Development in Transnational Higher Education Morris, Gareth 2025-04-23 In an era of increasing globalization, institutions of higher education are no longer bound by national borders. With the globalization of higher education, there is a growing need for further training and development among higher education educators. Teachers as well as their students encounter challenges relating to English for Academic Purposes (EAP) and the vast diversity in the classroom. By actively seeking professional development, transnational educators may enhance their own teaching competencies and careers in addition to student engagement, coping strategies, and critical thinking skills. Training and Development in Transnational Higher Education highlights the importance of training and development within various areas including curriculum design, multicultural competency, and self-evaluation. Covering topics such as character education, university partnerships, and gender dynamics, this book is an excellent resource for educators, school administrators, educational leaders, curriculum developers, professionals, researchers, scholars, academicians, and more.

A Web Notebook: A First Course in Using the Internet and Web Design Tony Hawken 2010-03-30

This is an introductory course book. It teaches people how to use the Internet and to be able to create web pages using HTML. It is intended for students studying computing on an Access to Higher Education programme, though it could be used to benefit many other students as well. The book takes very little for granted, and has numerous examples with brief explanatory notes. There are also example assignments and solutions.

Logic Programming and Nonmonotonic Reasoning Thomas Eiter 2003-08-06 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Logic Programming and Nonmonotonic Reasoning, LPNMR 2001, held in Vienna, Austria in September 2001. The 22 revised full papers and eleven system descriptions presented with five invited papers were carefully reviewed and rigorously selected. Among the topics addressed are computational logic, declarative information extraction, model checking, inductive logic programming, default theories, stable logic programming, program semantics, incomplete information processing, concept learning, declarative specification, Prolog programming, many-valued logics, etc.

Public Administration J. C. N. Raadschelders 2013-05-16 The book examines the history and development of public administration, the study of the internal structure and functioning of government and its interaction with society and its citizens. It surveys different approaches to the field and the methodological and epistemological issues surrounding an interdisciplinary, applied social science.

How The End Begins Ron Rosenbaum 2011-04-12 Each chapter of the How the End Begins deconstructs the dangers we face. Rosenbaum begins by showing all the ways the post-Cold War order that tried to impose a set of rules of averting a nuclear mistake has fallen apart. In chapter 2, he describes the journey of one Bruce Blair, once a missile launcher, whose experience inside the nuclear establishment left him alarmed about its vulnerabilities. Chapter 3 looks at nuclear war from the Russian side, using the architect of that nation's early warning system as a focus. Chapter 4 looks at how the Bush Administration helped push the world closer to a nuclear conflict by rewriting the rules of deterrence. Chapter 5 describes all the ways the international incidents we have seen - Georgia, the Israeli raid on Syria, the Iranian moves - are evidence that some governments have shown a willingness to move closer to the brink of a conflict involving nuclear weapons. The rest of the book looks at the broader nuclear issues facing the world in the 21st century: What is deterrence? Who can claim to have it? How many nuclear weapons can we live with? Is zero really possible? In other words: Can we undream the nightmare?
