In statistics, quality assurance, and survey methodology, sampling is the selection of a subset of individuals from within a statistical population to estimate characteristics of the whole population. May 2, 2026 · sampling, in statistics, a process or method of drawing a representative group of individuals or cases from a particular population. Sampling is the statistical process of selecting a subset—called a ‘sample’—of a population of interest for the purpose of making observations and statistical inferences about that population. Social ... May 15, 2022 · Sampling methods are the processes by which you draw a sample from a population. When performing research, you’re typically interested in the results for an entire population. As a subject, sampling considers the different methodologies one could use to survey a portion of the population and seeks to find a sample that is most indicative of the overall population.
