Sixth African Regional Conference on Women Anthony Mawaya 1999

Opportunities and Challenges for Women Leaders in Environmental Management Aquino, Jr., Perfecto Gatbonton 2023-11-24 Our planet is facing the prospect of environmental catastrophe, resulting from decades of reckless human activities. The ongoing degradation of the Earth's natural resources, climate change, pollution, and habitat destruction have created an urgent global crisis. The responsibility for addressing these challenges has been a significant issue since the 1972 International Conference on Human Environment in Sweden. Despite widespread acknowledgment of the issues at hand, insufficient efforts have been taken to safeguard our fragile ecosystems and secure a sustainable future for generations to come. Opportunities and Challenges for Women Leaders in Environmental Management is a groundbreaking book meticulously crafted for academic scholars seeking answers to the most pressing environmental questions of our time. This book reveals the pivotal role women are playing as environmental stewards, providing a ray of hope in the face of environmental turmoil. Through data, empirical studies, and narratives, this book spotlights the remarkable contributions of women worldwide in environmental activism, advocacy, research, education, and innovative strategies. Their unwavering commitment to energy conservation, responsible waste management, and the preservation of ecological parks and wildlife is both inspiring and transformative.

Women Empowerment from Qur'anic Perspective Muhammad Faizul Haque 2022
ICGR 2019 2nd International Conference on Gender Research Prof. Paola Paoloni 2019-04-11
Patriarchy and Gender in Africa Veronica Fynn Bruey 2021-03-25 This timely and expansive multidisciplinary and transdisciplinary collection dissects precolonial, colonial, and post-independence issues of male dominance, power, and control over the female body in the legal, socio-cultural, and political contexts in Africa. Contributors focus on the historical, theoretical, and empirical narratives of intersecting perspectives of gender and patriarchy in at least ten countries across the major sub-regions of the African continent. In these well-researched chapters, authors provide a deeper understanding of patriarchy and gender inequality in identifying misogyny, resisting male supremacy, reforming discriminatory laws, embracing human-centered public policies, expanding academic scholarship on the continent, and more.

Modern Chinese Women's perception towards Confucianism Culture and Practice. Reflection on Gender Roles in Chinese History Peter Lameck Mduwile 2022-11-08 Research Paper (postgraduate) from the year 2021 in the subject Sociology - Religion, Southwest University, language: English, abstract: In many societies, women's primary roles revolved around motherhood and managing a household. While women in many different places and at different times had this in common, there were significant differences in how women performed these roles depending on kinship relations. Confucianism Culture and practices sort attitudes toward women, common in the society. This paper examines the modern Chinese Women's perception of Confucianism Culture and Practice in reflecting the gender roles in China History. This study uses a qualitative approach where the design methods used was to combine the library research by reviewing various literature and documentations through collecting data-related research results.

Leadership and Business Ethics Gabriel Flynn 2022-01-24 This book offers new and challenging approaches to business ethics that successfully link theory and practice thereby overcoming lacunae and inadequacies in much of the literature concerning ethics and governance, a theme that recurs with remarkable frequency in the history of business ethics as an academic discipline. This work provides imaginative and innovate proposals for the indispensable coupling of virtue, integrity, and character with global business, finance, and banking. The volume seeks to overcome the marginal status of business ethics in universities, business, and enterprise by demonstrating that virtue ethics is an important step in the direction of an adequate response to the leadership issue. This new edition of a popular work points to new ways of achieving an ever more urgent coalescence of ethics and business. It proposes practical advice and viable suggestions to business people on what is right and wrong in business. The volume makes a vital contribution in the area of education that should serve the ongoing development of top leaders. In the important domain of women in leadership, the volume provides new solutions that break boundaries on the global stage. The work challenges unethical marketing of human images with important implications for citizenship and society. The volume contains creative suggestions for the use of spirituality and human development for the enhancement of business and society. The significantly extended second edition includes an exciting line up of leading academics and practitioners in the audacious hope that something may change for the better in the realms of business and banking.

National Conference Towards Planet 50:50 2017

Food System Transformation and the Realization of the UN Sustainable Development Goals Albie F. Miles 2025-11-18

Food systems are at a critical crossroads, confronting multiple biophysical, social-economic and ethical challenges, including climate change emissions and impacts, environmental degradation, loss of biological and cultural diversity, malnutrition and negative public health outcomes, social inequality, exploitation of human labor and non-human animals, and longstanding food insecurity at the national and international level. The United Nations' 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development provides a framework of 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) aimed at addressing these social and ecological externalities and building a more healthy, resilient, equitable, and sustainable world for all. The food and agriculture sector has a direct or indirect influence on 13 of the 17 UN SDGs; transformation of the food system is both urgent and essential to realize these goals by 2030. To mitigate and adapt to climate destabilization and reach the SDGs, rapid development of new intellectual infrastructure and global innovation is acutely needed to advance and scale integrated and transdisciplinary research, education, extension, planning, implementation, policy, and governance, along with the scientific monitoring and evaluation to inform the adaptive management of sustainable food systems through time. This Research Topic will focus on the centrality of food system transformation in achieving the UN SDGs, as well as the key strategies, models, opportunities and obstacles associated with this process. We welcome international submissions on a broad range of topics in the form of research articles, case studies, systematic reviews, meta-analyses, policy and practice reviews, perspective and opinion pieces related to sustainable food systems and the realization of the UN SDGs. The Research Topic invites submissions that address the social, scientific, political, economic and institutional drivers of food system transformation leading to the realization of the UN SDGs. Topics may include, but are not limited to the following: ● Agroecological and biologically diversified farming systems and their contributions to the realization of the UN SDGs; ● Innovative food system governance for the realization of the SDGs; ● Food system public policy and private sector investment for the realization of the SDGs; ● Research methods, models and social processes of developing (qualitative and quantitative) food system indicators and metric systems to measure progress toward the realization of the UN SDGs; ● City, state, regional or national level food system planning and implementation, monitoring and evaluation and the UN SDGs; ● Biocultural restoration and indigenous foodways as means to the realization of the UN SDGs; ● Food justice, social equity and the UN SDGs; ● Climate de/stabilization, food and farming system resilience, and the realization of the UN SDGs; ● Social and educational processes for normalizing the UN SDGs framework within state, regional municipal food system transformation initiatives; ● Technological innovation and digital infrastructure for realizing food and agriculture related UN SDGs. ● University research agendas needed to support the realization of food and agriculture-related UN SDGs; ● Post-secondary food systems education and student core competencies for realizing food and agriculture related UN SDGs. We invite the submission of original articles that offer new insights, data and perspectives on food system transformation and the SDGs, as well as case studies that demonstrate replicable and scalable sustainable food system practices and initiatives. By bringing together interdisciplinary research and practice, this Topic will provide a platform for knowledge exchange, collaboration, and collective action toward building healthy, equitable, resilient and sustainable food systems for all.

Gender Equity in Education in Northern Nigeria. Barriers and Solutions in Achieving SDG 4 for Girls Samson Okelarín 2025-07-09 Essay from the year 2024 in the subject Didactics - Politics, Political Education, University of Gloucestershire, course: Education Policy, language: English, abstract: Gender equity in education remains a pivotal global priority aimed at securing equal educational opportunities for all children, regardless of gender. It emphasizes not only access but also the fair treatment of girls and boys throughout the entirety of their educational journey, ensuring equitable completion rates and empowerment within learning environments (Limaj & Strori, 2022). The absence of gender equity in education constitutes a significant barrier to societal progress, impeding dynamic development not only within individual countries but across the world. This global challenge reflects systemic disparities between boys and girls in accessing and benefiting from education (Limaj & Strori, 2022). Achieving gender equality is fundamental to socio-economic advancement and forms an essential component of international development frameworks, including the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and Africa's Agenda 2063 (Oshaba, 2024). Despite concerted multisectoral efforts to bridge the gender gap, Nigeria continues to grapple with pronounced regional and gender disparities in educational participation and attainment (Adedigba et al., 2021). The Universal Basic Education Commission (UBEC) (2011) highlights that the Gender Parity Index (GPI)—the ratio of girls to boys enrolled at various educational levels—consistently reveals fewer girls in schools, with a disproportionate number of out-of-school children being female. This disparity is particularly acute in Northern Nigeria, where socio-cultural, economic, and institutional barriers persistently hinder girls' education, undermining the country's efforts to realize SDG 4, which advocates for inclusive and equitable quality education. This essay critically examines the barriers to gender equity in education in Northern Nigeria and evaluates solutions that can accelerate progress toward achieving sustainable development through the empowerment of girls.

The Republican Ethic: July 2018-July 2019 Ram Nath Kovind 2018

Japanese Women in Leadership Yoshie Tomozumi Nakamura 2021-03-16 This edited book highlights the unique cultural and socioeconomic elements of Japan and the strong influence of those elements on women leaders in the nation. It shows that gender inequality and under-utilization of female talent are deeply rooted in Japanese society, explaining why Japan lags behind other countries in Asia in this regard. The contributors are expert academicians and practitioners with a clear understanding of Japanese women leaders' aspirations and frustrations. This book has critical implications for the development of women leaders in Japan, providing intriguing insights into developing the potential of highly qualified women leaders in diverse Japanese contexts in which traditional cultural expectations and modernized values coexist.
