

Intimacy Jean Paul Sartre

Phenomenological Ontology And Literature

Thaís De Sá Oliveira 2015-04-28 Based on a bibliographic research, the present book aims to present two different ways of expression used by Jean-Paul Sartre - philosophy and literature - to develop his Existentialism. Through the exposure of the main ideas contained in his work "Being and Nothingness: an Essay on Phenomenological Ontology", the objective is articulate his philosophy with the characters presented in his literary works. Initiating with a brief biography of the philosopher, the text continues with an explanation of fundamental concepts for the understanding of his thought, in order to discuss how these concepts are reflected in his writing, such as in the theatrical play "The Flies", the novel "Nausea" and the short story "Intimacy". Aiming to contribute as a study resource for those interested in the work of Sartre, this book draws parallels between his philosophical work and his literary writings.

The Wall Jean-Paul Sartre 2010-07-27 One of Sartre's greatest existentialist works of fiction, The Wall contains the only five short stories he ever wrote. Set during the Spanish Civil War, the title story crystallizes the famous philosopher's existentialism. 'The Wall', the lead story in this collection, introduces three political prisoners on the night prior to their execution. Through the gaze of an impartial doctor—seemingly there for the men's solace—their mental descent is charted in exquisite, often harrowing detail. And as the morning draws inexorably closer, the men cross the psychological wall between life and death, long before the first shot rings out. This brilliant snapshot of life in anguish is the perfect introduction to a collection of stories where the neurosis of the modern world is mirrored in the lives of the people that inhabit it . This is an unexpurgated edition translated from the French by Lloyd Alexander.

The Debate Between Sartre and Merleau-Ponty
Jon Stewart 1998-10-28 This collection of essays provides a portrait of the intellectual relationship between these two men. It addresses several points of contact and covers themes of the debate from the different periods in their shared history.

The Philosophical Contexts of Sartre's The Wall and Other Stories Kevin W. Sweeney
2016-05-16 The Philosophical Contexts of Sartre's The Wall and Other Stories: Stories of Bad Faith presents a philosophical analysis of all five stories in Sartre's short-story collection. Kevin W. Sweeney argues that each of the five stories has its own philosophical idea or problem that serves as the context for the narrative. Sartre constructs each story as a reply to the philosophical issue in the context and as support for his position on that issue. In the opening story, "The Wall," Sartre uses the Constant-Kant debate to support his view that the story's protagonist is responsible for his ally's death. "The Room" presents in narrative form Sartre's criticism that the Freudian Censor is acting in bad faith. In "Erostratus," Sartre opposes Descartes's claim in his "hats and coats" example that we recognize the humanity of others by using our reason. In "Intimacy," Sartre again opposes a Cartesian position, this time the view that our feelings reveal our emotions. Sartre counters that Cartesian view by showing that the two women in the story act in bad faith because they do not distinguish their feelings from their emotions. The last story, "The Childhood of a Leader," shows how the protagonist acts in bad faith in trying to resolve the question of who he is by appealing to the view that one's roots in nature can provide one with a substantial identity. The stories are unified by showing the characters in all five narratives engaged in different acts of bad faith. The Philosophical Contexts of Sartre's The Wall and Other Stories is written for scholars interested in Jean-Paul Sartre's early literary and philosophical work, as well as for students interested in Sartre and twentieth-century French literature.
